

MSU Gives Recognition To Excellence

A 22-year veteran educator and a leading authority in the field of clinical mental health counseling have been selected by their colleagues as the 1989-90 recipients of MSU's most prestigious awards.

Dr. James E. Gotsick, professor of psychology, received the Distinguished Teacher Award, which was established in 1964 by the MSU Alumni Association.

Dr. William J. Weikel, professor of education, was presented the Distinguished Researcher Award, sponsored by the MSU Research and Patent Committee and given annually since 1979.

The awards were announced at the University's sixth annual Academic Awards Convocation held Monday, April 30, in Button Auditorium. The event launched a weeklong campuswide tribute to scholastic achievement.

A member of the faculty since 1968, Dr. Gotsick also was recipient of the 1985-86 Distinguished Researcher Award and is only the second person to earn both honors.

Respected by students and faculty, Dr. Gotsick is known for the high standards he maintains in his classroom. While teaching a full range of graduate and undergraduate courses, he has made a point of including a section of introductory psychology on his schedule nearly every semester and has said that he believes he would "lose something important if I gave up teaching freshmen." He also has been known to hold afternoon tutoring sessions for those freshmen students.

Dr. Gotsick earned the B.S. and M.Ed. degrees from Pennsylvania State University and his doctoral degree from Syracuse University. He has been a research associate in psychology at Purdue University and in psychiatry at the A.B. Chandler Medical Center, University of Kentucky.

He is the author or co-author of numerous articles for professional journals; has presented papers at national, state and regional scientific meetings, and is the recipient of several research grants.

Dr. Weikel, a professor in the Department of Leadership and Secondary Education, joined the faculty in 1975 and is recognized nationwide as a leading authority in the area of clinical mental health counseling. He currently is specializing in multi-model therapy techniques.

A charter member of the American Mental Health Counselors Association (AMHCA) and the founding editor of its journal, Dr. Weikel also is a past president of the association and currently serves on the Governing Council of the 57,000-member American Association for Counseling and Development. He has held national and state offices in numerous other professional organizations.

Dr. Weikel is the author or co-author of more than two dozen articles for scientific journals and co-edited a definitive text on the growth of the mental health counseling field. He has served on the editorial boards of six professional periodicals; has made presentations at more than 70 national, regional and state meetings, and received several grants in support of his research. He has received eight professional service awards from the AMHCA and was its 1984-85 Counselor Educator of the Year.

A graduate of Temple University, he earned the M.A. degree from the University of Scranton and holds a Ph.D. degree from the University of Florida.

Grote To Retire In 1992

MSU's Board of Regents has extended President C. Nelson Grote's contract through June 30, 1992, at which time he has announced his intention to retire.

Meeting on campus recently the board unanimously ratified the one-year extension beyond Dr. Grote's current contract which expires in 1991. The regents also set his salary for the coming year at $95,000.

In approving a contract extension at their last meeting, the regents authorized William Seaton, the board chairman, to work out the details with Dr. Grote and report back at the April meeting.

The president expressed his appreciation for the confidence that the board's action implied. Noting that he had given his decision a great deal of thought and discussed it with his staff, Dr. Grote said that his timetable allowed him to fulfill the commitment he made at the time of his appointment that he would stay at least five years.

Dr. Grote became MSU's 11th president on July 1, 1987, returning to the campus where he began his higher education administration career nearly three decades earlier.

The former dean of the University's College of Applied Sciences and Technology left in 1971 to become president of Schoolcraft College, Livonia, Mich., and went on later to become chancellor of The Community Colleges of Spokane, Washington.

The president also outlined a number of goals he wanted to achieve before stepping down. They include:

Breckinridge Hall renovations funded in the 1992-94 biennium budget;

The strategic long-range planning process fully operational and linked with the budget process;

The institutional assessment of effectiveness system in place;

All SACS reports associated with reaccreditation completed;

The study of the General Education (core curriculum) program completed to insure students are adequately prepared for the 1990's and beyond;

Significant progress made in the internationalization of the University's curriculum to prepare students for the 21st Century;

The Lappin Hall project completed; Mays Hall and Butler Hall renovations completed to begin to alleviate the campus housing situation;

The Greek Housing Project funded and under way;

Phase I of the Master Campus Plan funded and under way.

"If we all continue to work hard — and that's the important thing — these projects and others can be done by June 30, 1992," Dr. Grote said. "Don't plan my retirement party yet," he cautioned. "I have no intention of being a lame duck president. We have a lot of work ahead."

Regent Charles Wheeler of Ashland praised Dr. Grote and said that the president "has done a splendid job and is an excellent educator. I feel things are going well at Morehead State and the future is very bright," he added.

IE Ranks 10th

MSU's Individual Events (IE) team now ranks 10th in the nation based on rankings from the recent National Forensics Association Tournament.

Moving up from last year's 12th place finish, MSU's IE team was the only one from Kentucky to bring back a sweepstakes finish trophy from the competition. Teams from 124 colleges and universities nationwide competed in the five day tournament held at Mankato, Minn.

"MSU's speech teams have a long and proud tradition of excellence," said MSU President C. Nelson Grote. "These students and their coaches have worked extremely hard to earn this much deserved recognition."

"I'm proud of them and I find it gratifying that the University can boast to the world that its speech program is one of the best in the nation," the president said.

MSU also has placed first in the Kentucky Forensics Association State Championship Tournament for 14 consecutive years.

In addition to the team ranking, three

MSU students advanced to the quarter finals in the national tournament. Kellie Crump, Cynthiana junior, was quarter finalist in both informative and persuasive speaking; Larry Coy, Shepherdsville freshman, informative speaking, and Lori Hawkins, Ashcamp senior, after dinner speaking.

Other members of the team, whose wins in preliminary rounds contributed to MSU's 10th place finish, included:

Krystal Lynam and Greg Adams of Cynthiana; Rachel Craft, Chance Pennington and Kelly O'Connell of Morehead; Stacey Dixon of Ashland; Brian Gardener of Louisville; April Erdmann of Eldorado, Ohio; Anthony Rizzo of Vanceburg, and Carol Tyler of Mt. Sterling.

IE team coach Jan Caldwell praised the team members for their efforts and noted that Cheryl Spaniol (85) assistant coach; Dr. Shirley Gish and Cathy Thomas (80), faculty volunteer coaches; John Burchett, Morehead volunteer student coach, and Michael Breeze (89), Morehead graduate student, deserved a share of the credit as well.

Pharmacy Tech Is Accredited

MSU's Job Training Center has been notified the accreditation of the Pharmacy Technician training program has been accredited by the American Society of Hospital Pharmacists (ASHP).

Accreditation is awarded to schools and training programs meeting the provisions and regulations mandated by the ASHP. The accreditation is valid for two years after which time a re-evaluation of the program will be conducted.

Established at MSU in 1984, the JTPA pharmacy program has had 52 students participate.

Hospitals and clinics involved in the training include: St. Claire Medical Center, Morehead; Bath County Health Services, Owingsville; Mary Chiles Hospital, Mt. Sterling; Revco Drug, Morehead; Battson Drugs, Morehead; Fleming County Hospital, Flemingsburg; Bellefonte Hospital, Ashland, and Meadowview Regional Hospital, Maysville.

Pharmacy Technician Advisory Board members include: Greg Bausch, St. Claire Medical Center; Glen Davis, Bath County Health Services; Martha King, Meadowview Regional Hospital; Cindy Manley, Mary Chiles Hospital; Joe Nobrega, Revco Pharmacy, Morehead; Karl O'Dell, Bellefonte Hospital; Cathy Shely, St. Claire Medical Center;

J.D. Shoulders, Revco Pharmacy, Morehead; Gary Wientjes, Morehead Clinic, Morehead; Cathy Mays, pharmacy technician, St. Claire Medical Center; Cindy Thompson, pharmacy technician, Revco Pharmacy, Morehead; Dorothy Walters, trainer of pharmacy technician program, MSU; Jackie Scott, coordinator of JTPA, MSU, and Shirley Hamilton, coordinator of training, Office of Regional Development Services, MSU.

The advisory Board actively monitored and facilitated programming to support ASHP objectives to assure accreditation.

These individuals were involved in getting the program accredited according to Jackie Scott, coordinator of the Job Training Program. "We are delighted to receive our accreditation from the American Society of Hospital Pharmacists," she said. "Our program is the first in the state to be accredited, one of 20 in the entire country. This endorsement gives our Pharmacy Technician Training Program greater credibility."

Summer Research Fellowships Awarded

Seventeen MSU faculty members have received Summer Research Fellowships of $500 each to defray the costs of special applied research studies.

"Research which fosters professional growth is a vital component of any academic community," said Dr. Stephen S. Taylor, MSU vice president for academic affairs, who announced the awards.

"These fellowships and those grants awarded during the academic year are the University's way of encouraging professional growth," Dr. Taylor added.

MSU's 1990 Summer Research Fellows include:

Dr. William R. Batsel, associate professor of psychology, for a study, "Co-morbidity of Depression and Alcoholism: Literature Review."

Elizabeth W. Cooley, assistant professor of English, for a study, "One Must Stop to Find a Word: Language and Communication in the Novels of Virginia Woolf."

Dr. Anna L. Demaree, associate professor of psychology, for a study, "Effectiveness of Convention Based Placement Services on Minority and Non-Minority Employment."

Dr. Daniel Fasko Jr., assistant professor of education, for a study, "Values and Ethics in Education: Psychological Perspectives."

Dr. Andrzej J. Gapsinski, assistant professor of electricity/electronics, for a study, "Nonlinear, Direct-Search, Parallel Optimization Algorithm."

Dr. William C. Green, associate professor of government, for a study, "Informed Consent to the Use of Contraceptive Drugs: The Legal and Ethical Lessons of Depo-Provera's Experimental and Unapproved Use."

Dr. Lloyd R. Jaisingh, associate professor of mathematics, for a study, "Bayesian Estimation Under Position Testing Using the Linex Loss Function."

Dr. David T. Magrane, professor of biology for study, "Steroid Evaluation of the Effect of Exercise and Caloric Restriction on DMBA Influenced Tumorigenesis in Rats."

Dr. Bruce A. Mattingly, professor of psychology, for a study, "An Evaluation of the Usefulness of EEDQ, and Irreversible Dopamine Receptor Antagonist, for the Study of Behavioral Sensitization to Stimulant Drugs."

Dr. Francis H. Osborne, professor of psychology, for a study, "Formal Reasoning and PSI: Data Analysis and Literature Review."

William C. Patrick, assistant professor of mining technology, for a study, "Investigation of coal Refuse Utilization as a Building Material."

Dr. Donna C. Phillips, assistant professor of sociology, for a study, "Halcion Project: Network analysis."

Dr. Edward B. Reeves, associate professor of sociology, for a study, "Toward Constructing a Cross-Cultural Data Base."

Dr. Stuart S. Sprague, professor of history, for a study, "Kentucky 1817-1844."

Judith A. Stafford, assistant professor of social work, for a study, "Empowerment Model of Community Organization—The Forgotten Social Work Method."

Vickie Weir, assistant professor of English, for a study, "Women on the Horizon: The Feminization of American Rhetorical Theory."

Patsy P. Whitson, associate professor of social work, for a study, "The Impact of Social Work Education and Professional Practice on shaping Humanistic Values."

Proposals for Summer Research Fellowships are solicited by MSU's Research and Patent Committee, which reviews them under the University's guidelines and makes funding recommendations to the vice president for academic affairs.

Additional information on institutional grants may be obtained from the committee chair, Carole Morella, Office of Research, Grants and Contracts, Ginger Hall 901.

Remlinger To Study In India

Kate Remlinger, instructor of English at MSU, has been selected to participate in a 1990 Fulbright-Hays Seminars Abroad Program for study in India.

The U.S. Department of Education in cooperation with the United States Education Foundation in India (USEFI) is sponsoring the program.

Remlinger, daughter of Columbus, Ohio, residents Rita Remlinger and C. Edward Remlinger, will spend six weeks, June 28-Aug. 9, learning about the country's art and culture. While there as a student researcher, Remlinger said she hopes to use her experiences to gain a better understanding of global culture which she can pass on to her future students.

A two time graduate of MSU, she also has taken classes at The Sorbonne in Paris, France, and the University of Cincinnati. She plans to attend Michigan Technological University in the fall to work on a Ph.D. in rhetoric and technical communications.

She is a member of several academic societies including Phi Kappa Phi honor society, Pi Delta Phi French honor society, and Pi Gamma Mu honor society of the social sciences.

Remlinger is involved in numerous professional activities such as the MSU Writing Center, National and Kentucky Councils of teachers of English, Morehead and National Writing Projects and MSU's General Education English Committee.

Kate Remlinger

Before assuming her current position, she was acting director of publications at MSU. She also has taught in the Batavia (Ohio) and Williamsburg (Ohio) school systems as well as at Rowan County High School.

"Trading Places"

MSU President C. Nelson Grote was a student for a day recently while Olive Hill senior H. B. Gilliam assumed the role of the University's CEO.

Gilliam gained the opportunity to exchange places with the president after his name was drawn in a contest sponsored by the Student Alumni Ambassadors in late February.

Both parties agreed the day was a wonderful experience and said that they had gained new respect for each other's responsibilities from this reversal of roles.

Gilliam found there were many kinds of activities that are "all in a day's work" for a University president including giving interviews to the media. Randy Yohe, WSAZ-TV regional reporter, fitted him with a microphone for an on-camera interview.

Biology 105 at 8 a.m. "Student" Grote wasn't "quite prepared" for the pop quiz he received in his first class. He chose not to answer the questions, but did take notes during the remainder of the class.

MSU-Morgan Center Opens Computer Lab

The MSU-Morgan Center recently held an open house to display a new computer lab composed of 16 computer work stations and four printers on loan from the Tandy Corporation. The event drew more than 100 area residents, MSU officials, political leaders and state Department of Education representatives.

The proposal for the loan program was submitted to the state Department of Education by Jonell Tobin, center coordinator, and MSU-Morgan Center was one of only two sites in Kentucky approved by Tandy.

Last fall, the center began a fund raising campaign to help equip the computer lab with the necessary hardware and software. With a minimum donation of $2,000, an individual or company can equip a computer work station which will then carry a brass plate inscribed with the donor's name. Gifts, earmarked for the MSU-Morgan Center Computer Lab, may be made to the MSU Foundation.

Work stations already have been fully funded by Hinkle Contracting Corporation, Licking Valley RECC and Frederick and May Construction Company. Support also has been received from Mr. and Mrs. Earl Tredway and the Morgan County Fiscal Court.

Michael Fannin of Sandy Hook, seated at right, shows MSU President Grote how user friendly the computer can be, while state Sen. Woody May, left, and Brenda Rollins, adult education director, state Department of Education, watch. Fannin is a student in the center's Correctional Officer Pre-Employment Work Maturity Program, funded by the Eastern Kentucky Concentrated Employment Program.

Letter To The Editor: Alumni President Bids Farewell

"Time flies when you are having fun!" I realize how true that statement is, especially now that my term as president of our Alumni Association is drawing to a close. It's hard to imagine that these past two years have gone so fast — what a wonderful experience it has been!

During my term, it has been a pleasure to serve and represent you, my fellow alumni. We can all be very proud of how the MSU Alumni Association has grown and developed and can look forward to an even brighter future. The Association has continually strived to better serve the graduates of MSU and through many activities both on campus and off, we have met so many people. As a past Homecoming chairman, I am thrilled to see how this annual activity has grown with each year the number of alumni returning to our Alma Mater has increased.

Two super new Alumni Chapters have been formed — The Greater Louisville Area and Montgomery County, which have spurred added interest in these areas. There has also been an interest shown in the Cincinnati and Dayton areas, so I foresee the formation of even more chapters in the near future. The addition of chapters was one of my goals and I am pleased to see that this is occurring. The goodwill of MSU is shown far and wide by these chapters and it takes enthusiastic and interested alumni to get the ball rolling.

With the Association's participation in chapters, pre-game receptions and "Meet MSU Nights" we have traveled many miles on the road. But the Alumni Association has also been flying the skies and sailing the seas, now with the addition of our travel program. Trips to Hawaii, Scandinavia and the Caribbean are just the beginning of a terrific new program for you. Keep your eyes open, for we are in the process of planning future excursions and would love for you to join us.

The response to both our VISA credit card and the Seiko watch program has been great. With the publication of the first Alumni Directory last year we have gotten the greatest response and are pleased with the praise it has received. The participation in these programs has shown us that you appreciate and support the services we are offering. With this encouragement you will find that the Association will be continually searching for quality merchandise and activities to offer you.

Your support has also been shown with the increase of the Association's active membership. We recently surpassed the 3000 mark, which represents a 261% over the past five years! To become an active alumnus all one needs to do is to make a donation to the MSU Foundation, Inc. (we no longer have Alumni dues). The Association and the Foundation work closely together and with the Foundation's assistance we are better able to serve you.

With each MSU graduation, our membership has increased and to keep better track of this growing number the Office of Alumni Relations has become fully automated. The day-to-day work goes on at the Alumni Center, where recently the office area has undergone a total renovation. Soon the remodeling of the hospitality area will be completed, ready to welcome you whenever you return to campus.

As I bid farewell, a lot of thanks goes to many people. A good relationship is needed for anything to succeed and that is what I have had with my two friends; Bill Redwine, Director of Alumni Relations, and Assistant Director, Tami Jones. The Association is lucky to have the support of the University community — along with President and Mrs. Grote; the MSU Administrators, Keith Kappes and the staff at the Palmer Development House, and everyone at the Office of Alumni Relations has always been there to encourage and support me in whatever I did or said. Oh, and what fun I have had with my fellow members of the Alumni Executive Cabinet and Council — I will never forget some of our meetings!

I thank you for giving me this honor of being President, the memories I have made would fill a book. It has been wonderful to see old friends, to make new ones and it has been a privilege to represent you at meetings of the Board of Regents, MSU Foundation and various University committee meetings; as well as other activities. I leave this position knowing that the future for the Alumni Association looks great, just as it is for Morehead State. Through my work I have learned so much and I am even prouder of our Alma Mater!

I don't know what the future may hold for me, but I do know that I will continue to be an interested alumnus. Again, I thank you and ask that you be as supportive of the incoming president — Ted Coakley, as you have been of me. I know that the Alumni Association will soar in the good hands of Ted and the newly formed Board of Directors. I also ask that you please support MSU in all that you do, by returning for Homecoming and participating in activities in your area your pride will grow too. Remember, you are the Association's greatest asset!

Sincerely,
Lisa Browning, President
MSU Alumni Association

We Need Your Help With "Project 1990"!

Morehead State University is looking seriously for names and addresses of former students who left MSU without completing a degree or other formal program of study.

Morehead State, like most U.S. colleges and universities, traditionally has maintained communications with most of the students who actually graduated with a degree or completed a pre-professional course of study such as pre-law and pre-medicine.

However, we have learned time and time again that many of those other individuals technically identified as "non-degreed alumni," have the same abiding love and appreciation for MSU that we find among our graduates. They attend campus events, make financial contributions and recommend MSU to prospective students, including their own children, and express pride in their Alma Mater.

In many cases we find that these individuals were forced to leave school for reasons beyond their control and many were within a few credits of graduation and may not be fully aware of today's academic environment in which television courses, challenge exams and other credit options are available to help meet degree requirements. For example, any former student with as much as two years of credit could be eligible for an associate degree. Associate degrees were awarded for the first time in 1966 and former students enrolled before that date may not be aware that a two-year degree is available.

We have collected a few hundred of these names and addresses in the recent past but desire to dramatically increase that number. To do so, the MSU Office of Alumni Relations is launching "Project 1990" with the goal of finding at least 1,900 former students who want to reestablish a relationship with the University through the Alumni Office. This effort will be mounted in addition to our ongoing program of searching for "degreed" alumni whose names and addresses periodically turn up missing because of relocation, name changes, etc.

If you have family members or friends who attended MSU but didn't graduate, please give us their names and mailing addresses and we would be pleased to welcome them back into the MSU family.
